IN THE

WILLIAMS' ADDITION,

South of Creighton avenue, the following streets: Harrison, Webster, Taber and Suttenfield, are 60 feet in width and are "parked," as is customary in many other cities east and west. With the regular six feet walk, nine feet more are taken from the street, fifteen feet on each side, for grass plat and trees. This is called "parking" the street. Which still remains amply wide for carriages and wagons. Where streets are thus "parked" fences are usually considered a superfluous expense and the roadway is more easily kept rounded up in good condition for driving.

SLUGGERS FIGHT.

Carney and McAuliffe Indulge in a Prize Fight of Seventy-Four Rounds, But Neither Wins.

BOSTON, Nov. 16.—Carney, the champion light weight of England, and McAuliffe, of America, fought after one o'clock this morning. The beginning was delayed in trying get away from the crowd. In the first round McAuliffe planted a blow under Carney's chin, which sent him to the floor. Up to the end of the ninth round the battle seemed to be going all in McAuliffe's favor. Carney, becoming desperate, when the twelfth round opened, made a savage rush at McAuliffe, who met it with a hard blow on the right eye and followed it with a terrific right hander on the bridge of Carney's nose, which split that organ open, and the first blood for McAuliffe flowed.

The fighting after this was heavy and both men were badly punished. From the twenty-fifth round to the forty-second round, Carney had something the best of it. In the sixty-second round McAuliffe's left ear was cut open. The sixty-sixth round was marked by terrific exchanges of blows. In the sixty-ninth round Carney butted McAuliffe in the breast with his head and forced him to the floor. McAuliffe's friends became greatly excited and repeatedly called "foul," many of them breaking into the ring.

Quiet was restored and the fight went on, but in the next round McAuliffe's friends claimed Carney had kicked his antagonist in the abdomen and again claimed "foul." Great excitement ensued when the claim was not allowed, but the battle went on with the same frightful slugging, that had so far characterized the struggle. In the seventy-fourth round, after some heavy exchanges, the men clinched and both fell to the floor, with Carney on top.

The friends of both parties rushed into the ring, claiming the fight for either man and everybody claiming "foul."

When the referee could be heard he declared that as this was a fight to the finish and neither man had been knocked out he could not do otherwise than postpone the fight.

A BAD ACCIDENT,

Which Causes the Roof of the Pittsburg Round House to Fall in.

Last night, about 7 o'clock, as passenger engine No. 181 was being taken into the round house of the Pennsylvania company's shops, at this place, an accident occurred that might have been fatal in its nature. It came into the round house at a pretty good rate of speed and as it did so struck a half open door and tore a huge iron pier from its foundations and let a large portion of the roof of the building fall in. The brick walls gave way and pieces of iron, wood and brick were thrown in every direction and piled up around the locomotive in a fearful shape.

The engineer and fireman, who were on the locomotive at the time, were uninjured, although how they escaped without being hurt is somewhat miraculous, as the ruins of the despoiled part of the building must have flown around their ears pretty closely. A large number of the employes of the shops were working at the time the accident occurred and the noise of the wreck brought them from their different departments to the round house. Considerable excitement prevailed for a while and everybody in the shops was badly scared.

The whole side of the roof of the round house is caved in, the iron pier is torn away, a large part of the brick wall is badly damaged and the headlight of the locomotive is demolished. This, with some other injuries, is the amount of the damage and it will probably take several hundred dollars to cover the loss.

You can find the best of America's custom made clothing; cut, made and trimmed by New York's first-class merchant tailors, in nobby Cutaway, Frock and Prince Albert business and dress suits at Sam, Pete & Max's at one-half charged by home tailors. Seeing is believing. 26-e-o-d

A Farmer Injured.

Samuel H. Davis, a prominent farmer of St. Joe township, walked against a barrel of cider in his yard the other night and fell with sufficient force to injure him severely about the breast. He is confined to his bed.

A STOUT old lady got out of a crowded omnibus the other day, exclaiming, "Well, that's a relief anyhow." To which the driver replied, "So the hosses thinks, mum."

The universal remark of persons who have examined styles and prices at the merchant tailors, is that our custom made overcoats are better made, higher toned and cost about one-half less than tailors charge. SAM, PETE & MAX. 26-eod

HOY IS THIS?

The Electric Light Works to Shut Down for Want of Water—Elevators Practically Useless—A Water Famine.

Yesterday afternoon, last night and to-day it dawned upon quite a number of citizens that the water supply was exhausted.

The elevator in A. C. Trentman's wholesale grocery house stopped midway in the building yesterday with a barrel of sugar on it. Mr. Hubert Berghoff telephoned the situation to the water works office and they gave sufficient power to manipulate the elevator after some time.

"We have not sufficient power to carry our bell boy up the elevator," said Mr. D. M. Miller, one of the Aveline house proprietors at noon.

Mr. H. W. Mordhurst's elevator failed perform even its light service.

Similar stories are told everywhere and worse than this, the city is to be enveloped in darkness.

Mr. R. T. McDonald said the city could not supply sufficient water for the boiler, at their power station, near Superior street, and he served notice on the trustees and mayor that the city would not be lighted to-night for the reason named. "We pulled through last night by shutting off half of the lights," said Mr. McDonald, "but to-night we will attend to our private lights and let the city lamps go out."

Under these circumstances the city cannot stop the $150 a night the Jenny company get for lighting the city, and the people are out just that sum.

The flushing of sewers continues, but the fact cannot materially affect the water supply, because but one stream is used and there is not force enough to it to cleanse a water basin.

The size of the whole situation is that after the expenditure of a huge pile of money, the city of Fort Wayne wakes up at this late day to find it has no water to supply the people or the great business houses and manufactories.

As long as prejudices continue to rule the minds of officials, this deplorable state of affairs will continue.

LATER.

The water works trustees were called to meet at 2 o'clock, but when THE SENTINEL youth went to the office he found Mr. Kunkle and Mr. Iten in consultation with Mr. H. M. Williams and Captain Hettler. They had no information to give.

WOMEN'S WORK.

The National Convention of the W. C. T. U. in Session at Nashville—Miss Willard's Address.

NASHVILLE, Nov. 16.—The National W. C. T. U. met to-day with representatives from almost every state and territory. Upon the platform were seated Mrs. Judge Thomson, of Hillsboro, O., the mother of the crusade of 1874; Pundita Ramabor, the vice-president of the world's W. C. T. U. for India, and the officers of the National union. The hall is crowded with members of the convention and visitors. Perfect quietness prevailed while Miss Willard gave selections from her annual address. She was frequently interrupted with applause as she detailed the advancement of prohibition and the cause for which they labored.

JOHN STADTLER.

He Goes Into a Whisky Deal and Attempts Sharp Practices.

Some time ago John Stadtler, who keeps a saloon at the corner of Calhoun and Washington streets, purchased a big consignment of liquors on credit, but very promptly executed to his father-in-law, Edward Glaser, a chattel mortgage on the stock.

Accordingly Mr. Glaser yesterday obtained judgment for $2,648.65 against the liquor dealer.

His other creditors heard of this and this morning the following additional suits were filed:

Solomon Kline et al. sue John Stadtler to replevin a stock of liquors worth $250; Joseph Frieberg et al. sue to recover from Stadtler $161.25; Leo M. Frank sues Stadtler for $413; Henry Leeser et al. sue Stadtler for $112.18.

In all these cases Bell & Morris are attorneys for the claimants, and for a week past the saloon has been under police surveilance to see that none of the whisky were spirited away.

Sheriff Viberg this afternoon levied on Mr. Stadtler's stock under the mortgage of his father-in-law, Mr. Glaser, and closed up the saloon.

Bell & Morris issued replevin papers under their suits and placed them in the hands of Coroner Stellhorn, who will take the stock from the sheriff when a sufficient delivery bond is executed.

Mr. Geo. E. Small, formerly of Marion township, and now residing in Archer's addition, on St Mary's avenue, held ticket 4,169, and was presented by Messrs. Sam, Pete and Max, the people's clothiers, with the valuable city lot, corner Spring street and St. Mary's avenue. 12d&wtf

KILLED HIS MAN!

A Correspondent of the Cincinnati "Commercial-Gazette," is Assaulted and He Shoots His Man.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 16.—Thomas Green, of Maysville, and Lew Baldwin, of Nicholasville, met here at 11:30 and Green killed Baldwin in a shooting affray. Green is the correspondent for the Cincinnati Commercial-Gazette and wrote communications concerning the conduct of the election in Jessemine county. He charged Baldwin and others with certain unlawful acts. Baldwin replied, denouncing Green in the strongest language.

When they met this morning, in front of the Phœnix hotel, the quarrel opened and Baldwin denounced Green by calling him offensive names. Green either could not hear or did not choose to resent, and finally Baldwin drew a pistol, hitting Green on the head, and finally firing but missing him. Then Green fired two, his shots striking Baldwin on the left shoulder and cutting the aorta. Baldwin fired several shots, one of which slightly cut Green on the left side, and then he fell dead. Green's wounds were found to be trifling.

Christian Eix, a well known St. Joe township farmer sues for a divorce from his wife, Charlotte Eix. He says she was cruel to him and asks the court to take from her and hold in trust, certain real estate. Worden & Morris are attorneys for Mr. Eix.

QUIET REIGNS

Supreme Around the Railroads and Factories, and the News Obtained is "Squeezed Out."

Forty-eight car loads of live stock went east over the Nickel Plate last night.

Paymaster Sullivan, of the Grand Rapids and Indiana road, is making his monthly rounds.

The employes of the Pennsylvania company, in this city, will receive their monthly pay to-morrow.

The baggage and effects of the "Boy Tramp', troupe was piled up at the Pittsburg depot this morning.

Charles Miller, the foreman on the Muncie road, is rejoicing over the arrival of a new boy at his home.

The Nickel Plate took twelve cars of excursionists through the city, yesterday, from Cleveland to Chicago.

Wm. Pappert, one of the popular moulders at the Bass works, has the thanks of our reporter for favors.

H. W. Dorftmeyer, of the electric light works, left this morning for St. Louis on business for his company.

The Grand Rapids and Indiana railroad have voluntarily raised the wages of the engineers, firemen and train men on the road.

The new side track that has been built for the Bass foundry, near the works, was connected with the main track of the Wabash to-day.

Yesterday an engine run into a flat car loaded with dirt, near the Olds works, on the Wabash track and the dirt car was damaged somewhat.

Several tramps hung around the railroads this morning and annoyed people with their piteous appeals for help. They were strong and able-bodied men.

Stephen M. Brown, the engineer at the Bass works, has been transferred and taken charge of the large engine at the new moulding rooms of the works.

The electric light system in the Pennsylvania shops and yards will be in operation this evening. The wires are all stretched and the engines are being placed.

Joseph Bossler, of the Bass foundry moulding rooms, is at Red Key, Ind., attending the marriage of his sister, Miss Emma Bossler, which occurred at that place to-day.

The railways entering Chicago have agreed to construct viaducts over the crossings and to fence their tracks on condition that they may run their trains at unlimited speed.

Forty of the brakemen on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St, Paul road, Monday, absolutely refused to go out on double-headers, and freight business was temporarily suspended.

Assistant General Superintendent G. W. Stevens, of the Wabash, accompanied by Mr. John Bleekman, his private secretary, passed through the city last evening, bound for Decatur, Ill., where Mr. Stevens' office is now located.

William Smith, the popular fireman at the Olds wheel works, was at New Haven last night attending a reception that was given at that place. He drove down with a Texas pony and this may account for the fact that he had not returned to the works this morning when our reporter made his early rounds.

The family of Col. Horace Morgan, of Decatur, Ill., have put in 102 years on the Wabash railway. The father, Horace Morgan, was in the service of the road 13 years; Horace A. Morgan, a son, has been on the road 28 years; George K. Morgan, another son, has served 25 years; Walter P. Morgan, a third son, served 32 years; A. S. Morgan, a fourth son, spent four years of his life on the Wabash, making in all 102 years of service by this family. Horace A. is now conductor on the Decatur and Jacksonville accommodation; George K. runs a passenger from St. Louis to Chicago, and Walter P. manages a passenger from Decatur to Chicago.

Marion township must have a mascot, having been lucky in taking two first-class farm wagons, the fine Deering self-binder, and the valuable city lot, all presented by Sam, Pete & Max.

FOR $10,000.

Elizabeth Ring Sues the Nickel Plate for that Snug Sum.

Elizabeth Ring, through her attorneys, L. M. Ninde and Marshal & McNagny, this morning filed suit to recover $10,000 damages from the Nickel Plate Railroad company. Mrs. Ring lives in Whitley county and some two months ago out there, her husband, Franklin M. Ring, was at work in the company's gravel pit. The high bank slid on him and killed him. Mrs. Ring seeks the amount named to compensate her for her loss.

A party of young men from the Pittsburg shops and a few outsiders, are contemplating the renting of a hall this winter and fitting it up into a private gymnasium. They will purchase boxing gloves, horizontal bars, Indian clubs and all that will tend to make it a place of amusement where they can spend the long evenings. Geo. Carling is at the head of it, and we feel confident that they will succeed. An organization of this kind has a tendency to keep young men away from saloons and beer gardens.

SLIPPING BY.

The Y. M. C. A. Fair and Festival Can Not Always Last---To-night One of the Many Features.

To-night it is presumed, from present indications, will be one of immense success at Y. M. C. A. fair. The crowd last night was much larger than the night previous. The ladies are as diligently enployed, the booths are fully as gay and pretty, and everything moves with the same smooth success that has characterized the fair from the first. Let nothing prevent one from visiting the fair this evening. There are many things to be enjoyed to-night. The dinner feature of the fair is one which is well patronized. The price of a good meal is only twenty-five cents. The booths are "dressed" differently every night, which gives to the visitors new scenes to observe.

NOTES.

Come.

Orchestra music at the fair again to-night.

Get a pattern cut at the Y. M. C. A. cutting department.

Hundreds of people were fed at the Y. M. C. A. rooms this noon.

Photos of many clergymen are on exhibition and for sale at the fair.

A large party from Bluffton took dinner at the Y. M. C. A. to-day.

See that you have one brick in the building.

Now is the chance to get tailor cut patterns at the Y. M. C. A, fair.

The latest novelty at the Y. M. C. A. attracted considerable attention for the first night. We speak of the National Garment cutter. The ones donated to the Y. M. C. A. fair are all that will be sold in this city.

Thursday is Wabash day.

Friday is Pittsburg day.

Patronize the fair. The young ladies' drill will take place this evening.

Lam One, one of our Chinese laundry men, this morning made the fair a present of twenty-four packages of very fine imported tea. The present came unsolicited and shows that our Chinese brethren have the cause of Christianity at heart.

The Dutch baby will be one of the features of the fair to-night.

Daily News: "The fair of the Y. M. C. A. was not so well attended last evening as it should have been. The christian people of this community are not coming up to the full measure of their duty in this enterprise. The fair is very attractive. It is conducted upon methods that cannot give offense to anyone. The cause is one of the most beneficent that ever appealed to the hearts of men."

Baldwin and Dawson & Karns each kindly loaned the fair a fine Upright piano.

Look for the sign of "Popular Fund."

The Old Ladies' Home will get the fine stove.

In order to accommodate all who have not yet subscribed anything to the building fund a subscription book will be found in charge of E. F. Yarnelle, near the flower booth, where those who desire can make contributions. Every person ought to have a brick in the building. If you only feel able to give 25 cents, call and put your name down.

SOLOMON KELL.

A Perry Township Farmer Goes Wrong and Disappears.

Solomon Kell, one of the best known and wealthiest farmers in Perry township, is another victim to the snares of city life. Mr. Kell has a wife and five children, ranging in age from five to twenty years. They live out on their farm, which is worth every cent of $4,000, with only a slight encumbrance on it.

Mr. Kell has been swinging around the circle in Fort Wayne of late, and mingled with Hollis Gillet, Wm. and Frank Fitzgerald and Mike Wickliffe, all of whom used to be prosperous farmers before they tasted the fleeting sweets of metropolitan life.

Mr. Kell needed capital to continue the festivities and he borrowed $50 here and there until he secured something like $1,000 from his relatives and friends.

"Mr. Kell has left the state and abandoned a good family," said Prosecutor Robinson, last night, and then he detailed the facts as above outlined. Mr. Kell is about fifty years of age.

There is no sense paying your tailor war prices when you can buy the best custom made suits and overcoats of Sam, Pete & Max for half the money. 26-eod

Graffe's Minstrels.

On Monday and Tuesday evenings, of next week, at Library Hall, will be given a performance by Graffe's minstrels and the Fort Wayne Rifles. The preparations for this entertainment have been going on steadily for some time. The parts have been rehearsed carefully, so that the rendition of songs could hardly be improved upon. As to the tiresome business which is generally found in a minstrel performance, it can be said that the company is free from it. Aside from the minstrel performance, the Fort Wayne Rifles will give a fancy drill. Tickets now on sale. Don't miss it.

MASON & HAMLIN ORGANS

The cabinet organ was introduced in its present form by Mason & Hamlin in 1861. Other makers followed in the manufacture of these instruments, but the Mason & Hamlin Organs have always maintained their supremacy as the best in the world. Mason & Hamlin offer, as demouftration of the unequalled excellence of their organs, the fact that all of the great World's Exhibitions, since that of Paris, 1867, in competition of the best makers of all countries, they have invariably taken the highest honors. Illustrated catalogues free.

PIANOS. Mason & Hamlin's Piano Stringer was introduced by them in 1882, and has been pronounced by experts the "greatest improvement in pianos in half a century."

A circular, containing testimonials from 300 purchasers, musicians and tuners, sent, together with descriptive catalogue, to any applicant.

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 16, 1887.

THE expense of living has greatly increased in Washington, and the high rents are troubling many Congressmen who have only their salaries to depend upon. Houses in the fashionable section rent for from $600 to $13,000 a year, and the $600 houses are, as a rule, little ones of six or eight rooms. Provisions are plenty, but prices are high.

J. H. SULLIVAN, who lives near Pilot Point, Texas, hearing the distressful bleats of one of his fall lambs, hurried out with his double-barreled shotgun. Hearing a tremendous rustling in the tree-tops, which somewhat confused the cries of the lamb, his attention was attracted thither. He saw an immense gray object in the top of one of the tallest trees. The object was discovered to be flapping its huge wings, and before the immense bird could free itself from the branches of the tree for an unobstructed flight with its victim he discharged both barrels of the gun into its body, felling it to the ground with the lamb. The capture proved to be a very large gray eagle, which measured six feet from tip to tip, with immense beak and talons. The eagle received two buckshot in its head.

THE question of making laces of iron and steel for ladies and children's wear is being discussed in art, mill and fashion circles. At the Centennial in 1876 a piece of steel rolled by a Pittsburgh mill was on exhibition which was so thin and light that it weighed much less than a book leaf, and could be blown from the hand easier than a piece of paper of the same size. The iron leaf was rolled on a train of rolls upon which heavy tank and boiler iron is now rolled. Experts say that curtains and other fine laces can be made of soft malleable iron, and in every way be used with greater satisfaction than cotton laces. The sheets will necessarily have to be rolled down to an exceedingly low gauge and then pressed into any desirable pattern and shape. There will be no trouble in furnishing iron laces for ladies and children's wear, with their names and other ornamentations in filagree design.

AFTER a trial of only six months in the face of a formidable opposition, both secret and open, and many discouraging circumstances, says the Chicago Tribune, it is not too much to claim that the interstate act is overcoming every obstacle and justifying the expectations of its supporters. Outside and independent of any action of the commission the self-operative features of the act are becoming widely and beneficially felt, and the conspiracy to wreck the law is rapidly breaking down. Railroad rates are falling steadily and seeking a reasonable and just level. Railroad managers now get together not to raise but to lower tariffs. Facilities for travel and transportation that were withdrawn six months ago are being restored. Almost daily some road gives notice of its intent to withdraw from an association to maintain rates and to promote the business of its own line by lowering charges. The rate-maintaining associations devised to take the place of pools are breaking down under their own weight. Without a fixed division of traffic or earnings it is impossible to hold rival lines together in a combination to keep up rates. The effect of prohibiting pools has been to destroy the great railroad "trust" which was rapidly forming in this country and to restore competition between carriers at common points.

THERE is considerable talk in the Patent Office just now concerning an invention patented recently, which, in the opinion of some, will be a formidable rival of the telephone, Mr. Bell's monopoly. The invention is an electric type-writer. The instrument in appearance somewhat resembles an ordinary mechanical type-writer. It has a key-board, and the types are placed on steel bars, which play upon a common center, as is the case with the type-writer. The motive power used is electricity, by means of which evenness of action is assured. No matter how heavily or how lightly the keys are struck the impression on the paper is the same. A remarkable feature of the invention used as a type-writer is that the carriage moves automatically both forward and backward. When the end of the line is reached the carriage returns to the starting point without the aid of the operator and the paper bar moves one notch, so that all that is required of the operator is to depress the keys. The most important field for the new invention is said to be in connection with the telegraph. It is said at the Patent Office that the instrument can be used both as a transmitter and receiver over a single wire, no matter how great the distance may be. The receiving instrument does not require the attendance of an operator, but prints the dispatch automatically. The instruments at both ends of the line print the dispatch sent, and a safeguard against mistakes is provided. It is claimed that the electric type-writer will be valuable as a local aid to business, and offers many advantages over the telephone.

GEN. BENJAMIN F. BUTLER has for years been a close student of Shakspeare, and has a large acquaintance among Shakspearean scholars. To a New York correspondent Gen. Butler said the other day, in relation to Mr. Donnelly's Shakspearean theories: "I am very greatly interested in the matter of the authorship of the so-called Shakspeare plays, and am well acquainted with Mr. Donnelly. I knew him twenty years ago in Congress, and I have read his books. Long before I ever saw him, however, I became thoroughly convinced that Bacon was the author of the plays. I am a firm believer in the Baconian theory. The author of the plays had access to an enormous library, and his research into all languages was amazing. Shakspeare was a low fellow. Bacon says somewhere that it will all come out some day. As Donnelly says, it is highly probable that Bacon ran a cipher through his works. He delighted in ciphers and everybody used them in his day. All messages between courts were in cipher. It is very reasonable to believe that Bacon inserted a cipher in his play. Everything else points logically to such a conclusion, and it remains only to discover the key to this to establish beyond question Bacon's claims. You suggest that either one of the three things must be true: (1) That Donnelly is right, (2) that he has made a mistake and is deceived, or (3) that he is a fraud. Now, I know personally that the latter is not the case. Mr. Donnelly is perfectly honest. I also know that he is too thorough and careful to make a mistake. That leaves the first suggestion, which is right. I feel full confidence that Mr. Donnelly has discovered the true cipher, and will prove all that he claims, and that he will establish Bacon's undisputed authorship to the Shakspearean plays."

A WASHINGTON letter says: The reptile division of the Smithsonian Institution has begun a series of experiments for the purpose of discovering, if possible, a chemical antidote for rattlesnake poison. In this connection, it is understood, the use of whisky will be avoided, and the experiments will be made with a view to finding an antidote more effective and more acceptable to all classes of victims than the common remedy for snake-bite. Four monster rattlesnakes of a warlike nature have been secured from the mountain regions of Virginia, and a number of pigeons and rabbits are to be the martyrs for the cause of science. The poison will be secured by a method which is simple, though, doubtless, somewhat annoying to the snakes and not a little dangerous for the scientist. The snake is seized just behind the head, and when he has been excited to about the proper degree of frenzy a small piece of cotton is thrust into his mouth, and into this he is at liberty to strike his fangs as long as he feels like it. The poisonous venom—an odorless, amber-colored fluid, is absorbed by the cotton, which is finally removed from his snakeship's mouth and soaked in glycerine. In this way a solution of rattlesnake poison, 5 per cent. strong, is obtained. The pigeons and rabbits, as the subjects, are inoculated with this poisonous solution by means of a hypodermic syringe, and while under the influence of the venom they will be experimented upon. It is proposed, if possible, to discover some chemical which, when applied to the wound, will neutralize the poison and prevent fatal effects.

Coca Culture.

Coca, a shrub growing wild on the mountains of Peru and Bolivia, is coming into extensive cultivation on account of the rapidly increasing demand for cocaine, the principal alkaloid obtained from its leaves. The plant resembles the tea-plant, is cultivated in rows like Indian corn, and in two years attains its full height of five or six feet, bearing leaves about two inches long, with white blossoms and red berries. The leaves are gathered several times a year, and the bushes produce for many years. The peculiar virtues of coca as a nerve stimulant have long been known, not only to medical men, but to the Peruvian Indians and miners, who chew the leaves mixed with quick-lime, much as tobacco is chewed, and who are thus enabled to resist fatigue to a remarkable degree. It was not until 1860, however, that the active principle was isolated, while the great value of cocaine as a local anaesthetic was accidentally discovered only some three years ago.—Arkansaw Traveler.

The Noble Boston Man.

A Boston broker lost a wallet containing $15,000 on the street and a newsboy found it and brought it to the owner. The man struggled with a terrible temptation to be mean and sordid for a moment, and then, forgetting self and casting to the winds his greed of gain as he trampled the temptation under his feet, gave the honest boy permission to go on the Common and play every day. "We can trust you," sobbed the grateful man; "we know that you will keep off the grass." O how often this opportunity to make others happy by a kind word, a gentle smile, or some little act of kindness knocks at our door and we heed it not, until it is too late. O that more people were like the Boston man. (P. S.—They are.)—Burdette, in Brooklyn Eagle.

The Elephant as a Logger.

In Ceylon no railroads stretch from the wooded districts of the interior to the sea coast, and the timber cut on the mountains has to be dragged wearily over the miles of rough country intervening between the place of its growth and the sea. From the time the tree is felled and divested of its limbs until it is formed into rafts along the shore all the mechanical labor is performed by the elephant, says a writer in the Boston Courier. A drove of these animals, varying in number from five to ten, are conducted into the woods by two or three natives and set to work. They know what is required of them, and at once pair off (generally working in couples) to begin their day's labor. Seizing a huge log with their trunks, they roll it upon their tusks, and, holding it firmly in place by coiling their trunk about it, they lift it bodily from the ground and place it upon the rollers which are to aid in its transportation to the beach. In cases where the clearing will not admit of their walking abreast with their burden they will slide along, carefully avoiding all trees and stumps, until they place the log on its bed as squarely as could the most skillful engineer; then returning at a leisurely gait they pick up another log and transport that in the same methodical manner, until the land-raft has assumed the required proportion.

When the ground tier has been completed and they commence to build up, the ingenuity of the animal is most wonderfully displayed in lifting and depositing the heavy timbers in their place. One will lay his end down, and, passing over to his companion, they will together carry that end as far across the foundation as they can reach, and drop it. Then both will return to the first end, handling that in like manner, until by successively treating each end they work the log into place. The several squads pass and repass one another without jostling or in any way interfering with the work; and all this is done without a word from the drivers, who spend most of their time sleeping peacefully beneath the grateful shade of some neighboring palm. When the pile is completed the overseers lash it together with heavy chains and place rough harness, consisting of breast-band and traces, upon the larger animals of the drove, and attach them to the structure, preparatory to dragging it to the shore. This part of the business the elephants seem strongly to resent, for the moment the harneses are produced the bulls set up a dreadful trumpeting, flourish their trunks in the air, and assume a most ferocious mien, but a few prods from the goad soon reduce them to subjection and they start for the beach without further delay. The smaller animals pick up the rollers that are left behind, carry them ahead and lay them in place, the work being conducted on the same principle upon which buildings are moved in our own country. On reaching the water's edge the elephant displays signs of the greatest pleasure, being invariably allowed an opportunity to take a bath, which is heartily enjoyed by them.

This completes one day's work. The next morning sees them placing the timber in the water and building a floating raft, which later is towed off by the ship's crew awaiting the cargo.

Lifelong Disappointment.

Even if one acquiesces in the loss of liberty the deprivation is always a sad one. A visitor at the Convent of Turgia, in Italy, describes the disappointed longing of one of its inmates, an aged woman, who had been brought up in a convent, and, when her education was complete, at the request of her friends—no dowry, and therefore no husband, having been found—had taken the veil.

She could not remember having walked in a street in all her life, and with this fact was connected her greatest earthly disappointment.

Some three years before I met her she had been sent from Dijon to this convent at Turgia. The journey occupied about forty hours, and she was joyfully animated by the hope of just once traversing the streets on foot.

But alas for the frailty of human hopes! The lady superior, knowing nothing of this secret longing, and deciding that a woman of more than 80 years of age would be glad to drive, sent a close carriage to meet her at the railway station.

There were tears in the poor old woman's eyes as she said to me: "And now I shall never walk in a street!"—Youth's Companion.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferers at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub wakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. SKIN SCALP BLOOD.

Having been a sufferer for two years and a half from a disease caused by a bruise on the leg, and having been cured by the Cuticura Remedies when all other methods and remedies failed, I deem it my duty to recommend them. I visited Hot Springs to no avail, and tried several doctors without success, and at last our principal druggist, Mr. John P. Finlay (to whom I shall ever feel grateful), spoke to me about Cuticura, and I cousented to give them a trial with the result that I am perfectly cured. There is now no sore about me. I think I can show the largest surface where my sufferings sprang from of any one in the state. The Cuticura Remedies are the best blood and skin cure manufactured. I refer to druggist John P. Finlay and Dr. D. C. Montgomery, both of this place, and to Dr. Smith, of Lake Lee, Miss.
ALEXANDER BEACH, Greenville, Miss.
Mr. Beach used the Cuticura Remedies, at our request, with results as above stated.

SAVED MY MOTHER'S LIFE.

Ever since I can remember, my mother has suffered from a milk leg. Nothing would do her any good. She had the best medical talent, but they all did her no good. She suffered with her leg for thirty years and never knew a well day. She would have to sit up half the night, holding up her leg and moaning. She had no peace. She used all the best known remedies in the country without effect. I asked her to try your Cuticura remedies. Got her a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent, and she took it, and has taken in all about six or seven bottles, and now she is a well woman to-day. Her leg is entirely healed, and her health was never better. She can go out every day, something she has not done in ten years, so you see I cannot help stating to you about your wonderful Cuticura Remedies. You have saved my mother's life. I cannot find words to express my gratitude. I have advertised your Cutihura Remedies far and near.

Sneezing Catarrh.

The distressing sneeze, sneeze, sneeze, the acrid, watery discharges from the eyes and nose, the painful inflammation extending to the throat, the swelling of the mucous lining, causing choking sensations, cough, ringing noises in the head and splitting headaches,—how familiar these symptoms are to thousands who suffer periodically from head colds or influenza, and who live in ignorance of the fact that a single application of Sanford's Radical Cure for Catarrh will afford instantaneous relief.

But this treatment in cases of simple Catarrh gives but a faint idea of what this remedy will do in the chronic forms, where the breathing is obstructed by choking, putrid mucous accumulations, the hearing affected, smell and taste gone, throat ulcerated and hacking cough gradually fastening itself upon the debilitated system. Then it is that the marvellous curative power of Sanford's Radical Cure manifests itself in instantaneous and grateful relief. Cure begins from the first application. It is rapid, radical, permanent, economical, safe

A Boon

To mankind, said a member of the State Medical Society of Ga., at one of its meetings, "and the prescription ought to be given to the medical fraternity for the benefit of the Profession, for no such combination exists in the Pharmacopea as that of Simmons Liver Regulator." The late THOS. H. POWERS, of Philadelphia, America's greatest chemist, asserted "it was like the discovery of Dover, in his celebrated Dover's Powder, it could not be improved and it was wonderfully strange that the combination had never been made in an officinal form."

L. M. HINTON, M. D., Washington, Ark., says: "No other remedy within my knowledge can fill its place. I have been practicing medicine for twenty years, and have never been able to put up a vegetable compound that would, like Simmons Liver Regulator, promptly and effectively move the Liver to action and at the same time aid (instead of weakening) the digestive powers."

Symptoms such as bitter or bad taste in the mouth; pain in the back, often mistaken for Rheumatism; sour stomach; loss of appetite; bowels alternately costive and lax; headache; loss of memory, with a painful sensation of having failed to do something which ought to have been done; debility; low spirits; a thick yellow appearance of the skin and eyes; a dry cough often mistaken for Consumption, indicate Liver disease, and if not regulated in time great suffering, wretchedness and death will often ensue.

WHAT AILS YOU?

Do you feel dull, languid, low-spirited, lifeless, and indescribably miserable, both physically and mentally; experience a sense of fullness or bloating after eating, or of "goneness," or emptiness of stomach in the morning, tongue coated, bitter or bad taste in mouth, irregular appetite, dizziness, frequent headaches, blurred eyesight, "floating specks" before the eyes, nervous prostration or exhaustion, irritability of temper, hot flushes, alternating with chilly sensations, sharp, biting, transient pains here and there, cold feet, drowsiness after meals, wakefulness, or disturbed and unrefreshing sleep, constant, indescribable feeling of dread, or of impending calamity?

If you have all, or any considerable number of these symptoms, you are suffering from that most common of American maladies—Bilious Dyspepsia, or Torpid Liver, associated with Dyspepsia, or Indigestion. The more complicated your disease has become, the greater the number and diversity of symptoms. No matter what stage it has reached, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will subdue it, if taken according to directions for a reasonable length of time. If not cured, complications multiply and Consumption of the Lungs, Skin Diseases, Heart Disease, Rheumatism, Kidney Disease, or other grave maladies are quite liable to set in and, sooner or later, induce a fatal termination.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery acts powerfully upon the Liver, and through that great blood-purifying organ, cleanses the system of all blood-taints and impurities, from whatever cause arising. It is equally efficacious in acting upon the Kidneys, and other excretory organs, cleansing, strengthening, and healing their diseases. As an appetizing, restorative tonic, it promotes digestion and nutrition, thereby building up both flesh and strength. In malarial districts, this wonderful medicine has gained great celebrity in curing Fever and Ague, Chills and Fever, Dumb Ague, and kindred diseases.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

CURES ALL HUMORS,

from a common Blotch, or Eruption, to the worst Scrofula. Salt-rheum, "Fever-sores," Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine. Great Eating Ulcers rapidly heal under its benign influence. Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Eczema, Erysipelas, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, Hip-joint Disease, "White Swellings," Goitre, or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands. Send ten cents in stamps for a large Treatise, with colored plates, on Skin Diseases, or the same amount for a Treatise on Scrofulous Affections.

"FOR THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE."

Thoroughly cleanse it by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and good digestion, a fair skin, buoyant spirits, vital strength and bodily health will be established.

CONSUMPTION,

which is Scrofula of the Lungs, is arrested and cured by this remedy, if taken in the earlier stages of the disease. From its marvelous power over this terribly fatal disease, when first offering this now world-famed remedy to the public, Dr. Pierce thought seriously of calling it his "CONSUMPTION CURE," but abandoned that name as too restrictive for a medicine which, from its wonderful combination of tonic, or strengthening, alterative, or blood-cleansing, anti-bilious, pectoral, and nutritive properties, is unequaled, not only as a remedy for Consumption, but for all Chronic Diseases of the Liver, Blood, and Lungs.

For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Chronic Nasal Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, Severe Coughs, and kindred affections, it is an efficient remedy.

Sold by Druggists, at $1.00, or Six Bottles for $5.00.

Left-Handed Writers.

"It looks like copper-plate," remarked a prominent teacher of penmanship to a New York Mail and Express reporter, as he exhibited a handsome specimen of chirography from among the many specimens in his large collection.

"It couldn't have been written very rapidly," suggested the reporter.

"It was, though—as rapidly as the writer could make his fingers move."

"Probably he is a professional penman; book-keeper or teacher, likely."

"Neither, and he only learned to write four years ago. He was a soldier. During the war he lost his right arm. After the war he became a traveling salesman. Five years ago he lost a leg in a railroad accident, and then took up penmanship. He had to learn it all over again. But by perseverance you see how much he has accomplished. He is the secretary of a mining company down town, and draws $10,000 a year salary. One odd thing about this is that he never was a good penman when he had both arms. But in learning to use his left hand he acquired the art of making all of his characters plainly. He made them slowly at first, and now he can't write badly, no matter how rapidly he works. He can do something more rapidly than that."

"What can that be?"

"He is an expert and rapid shorthand writer."

"Are there many like him?"

"I don't know of any equally expert, but I do know a large number of men who have lost their right arms and learned to write very rapidly with their left hands."

"Did you ever know of a man's learning to use both hands equally well?"

"There are a few instances on record. I heard of a man once who not only wrote with both hands, but wrote with them at the same time and a different sentence with each hand. He was the wonder of the profession, but he was more of a freak than anything else. Ambidexterity is a great accomplishment, but such experiences as that are not valuable, save as curiosities."

Thirty Years of Progress.

I have been traveling in Europe for the last thirteen months, seeing England, Scotland, France, Italy, Switzerland, and Germany, and my impression of the condition of these countries as compared with what appeared to be their condition more than thirty years ago is one of progress and improvement. This is the most manifest and the most astonishing in Italy. The despot's heel was on the brow of that lovely peninsula at my former visit in every one of her provinces. The education of the common people was almost utterly neglected. Newspapers were few, uninteresting, and subjected to a rigid censorship. The oldest documents of the Christian Church were often taken from travelers at the custom houses and confiscated as contraband. I saw the officials at Civita Vecchia rob a young Philadelphian of the Bible his mother had given him. The people were oppressed with a sense of wrong and hopeless of better things. There was little activity in trade, manufactures, or commerce. The very reverse is now true in all these particulars. Italy is filled with new life and new hope. No other nation has more fully accepted the best ideas of the civilization of the nineteenth century, and although the people, especially in the South, were sunk so deep in degradation that much remains to be done for their enlightenment, they are making rapid strides forward. There is no danger of reaction. The people are amused at the attempt to manufacture public sentiment by correspondents of foreign papers, who represent them as willing to part with some portion of their liberty. King Humbert has no desire to meet the fate of Emperor Maximilian. He knows that the nineteenth century is the nineteenth century.

France, too, has gained by freedom. The national character has gained in dignity and self-control. There are symptoms of the old maladies among the excitable populace of Paris and there may be dangers ahead; but it is becoming more and more evident that ever since the great revolution republicanism is the only form of government which is legitimate in France. The restoration of any dynasty, if brought about, will only mean its expulsion ten years afterward. The government of the people is the only government which can possibly be permanent among such people as the French, even if temporary defeats still await it.

In Germany the increase in material prosperity is the most striking feature. Next to that is the increase in national self-respect and the exultation in the achievement of national unity. In the southern provinces there is also a great advance in freedom of thought. Give Germany thirty years of peace more liberal principles will prevail in her government. At present the enthusiasm for the Emperor and for the ablest statesman whom the nineteenth century has produced makes a semi-absolutism acquiesced in.

One of the most striking things in England is the improvement of the common people in intelligence and education. England has now one of the best systems of popular education in the world, thanks to William Edward Forster and his coadjutors. The large number and the cheapness of the newspapers and the ability with which the provincial press is conducted, shows a striking change. The great growth of London and of the larger towns in general excites one's wonder. England shows no signs of decrepitude. There are gigantic evils still to be eradicated, but they are less than they were in the former generation.—Exchange.

The flour and spice mills of J. B. Monning & Co., run night and day. This is a great institution.

The butcher boys had a great time last night and swung the plump frauliens until broad day light.

Miss Hannah O'Connor entertained a company of her friends at her home, on East Lewis street, last night.

Mrs. Elizabeth C. Hanna and daughter, Miss Anna, are expected home from Europe inside of two weeks.

Supt. John Wilkinson and Harry Metzgar took Perry Snurr to the insane asylum this morning. Snurr is a dangerous lunatic.

The Wilson & Rankin minstrel party play at Richmond this evening. This is the best show on the road and no mistake about it.

Supt. Geo. F. Feltz went to Arcola to day to inspect the Lake township schools. Mr. Feltz has visited eighty schools this term.

The new overcoats of the day policemen have not yet been completed by the tailor, and that is the reason they have not appeared in them.

Supt. W. W. Worthington is at Indianapolis to take the 18° in Scottish rite masonry. Mr. Worthington will go to Cincinnati to-morrow.

Mr. Robert Hammond and Miss Emma Zollinger will be married this evening at 5 o'clock at the residence of the bride's aunt, on East Main street.

Mr. Wm. Geake, of this city, was named as a member of the reception committee at the Scottish rite convocation at Indianapolis. Mr. Geake did not attend.

State's Attorney J. M. Robinson says there is no business for the grand jury next Monday. All the criminal cases have been tried before Judge O'Rourke on information.

The Morton club give a reception tomorrow evening. Democrats have been ruthlessly and entirely excluded from these festive occasions, because of their humble proclivities.

A sister of Paul Pettijohn, the lunatic who pulled out Superintendent Wilkinson's whiskers, wants him released from the state insane asylum in order to take him to Switzerland.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Greibel yesterday moved into their elegant new home on West Berry street. Mr. Greibel is a newspaper man and we rejoice at this evidence of prosperity.

At a meeting of Chicago ministers of all denominations, at the First Methodist church, Francis Murphy was requested to commence a winter campaign against intemperance in Chicago.

Supt. John Wilkinson will represent the Twelfth district at a meeting of the democratic state central committee at Indianapolis to-day. Hon. Edward O'Rourke delegated Mr. Wilkinson as his representative.

Ulrich Stutz and A. H. Carrier sue the county commissioners to restrain them from paying certain monies to Goodman & Co., until the firm settles for certain material. W. G. Colerick and A. A. Purman filed the complaint.

Mrs. Jacob Nirdlinger, of Toledo, who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. D. Zekind, on West Jefferson street, returned home last evening. Mrs. Zekind will probably move to Toledo in a short time and make her home with her daughter.

The Logansport Journal says: "Judge Cheeney, of Fort Wayne, spent Sunday in this city, the guest of Mayor Nelson. —A decision by the court of claims at Washington in favor of the American claimants in the French spoilation cases, will give snug fortunes to several gentlemen who were formerly well known residents of Fort Wayne."

E. A. Shirk, of Peru, and C. B. Knowlton, of Logansport, two of the owners of the canal, asked the city of Lafayette to pay them a rental of $132,000 for the water from their property. The city of Lafayette called them rascals and refused to pay a cent, supposing it could continue to steal its water. The canal owners, however, opened the tail race to the stream and emptied it. Now the very smart officers of Lafayette are whistling to keep up courage.

Postmaster Kaough is at South Bend on business.

The Old Fort Wayne house is being repainted and repaired.

Wm. Geller, of Broadway, will manufacture candy in his bakery.

Kellar, the magician, holds forth at the Temple Friday and Saturday.

The new Bursley block on Calhoun street is looming up in grand style.

The "Boy Tramp" is the attrraction at the Academy to-night and to-morrow night.

Bakers and milkmen who use fire gongs on their wagons can be fined under the city laws.

The police gathered Geo. Wethersly and Jennie Jones in last night. The illicit lovers paid $17 each to the mayor.

Federal Marshal Wilkinson and Esquire Daniel Harding went to Indianapolis last evening to attend the I. O. O. F. convention.

Receiver McNulta, of the Wabash railway, gave notice to-day of the withdrawal of his line from the Chicago and St. Louis passenger agreement.

The K. of P. Regimental reunion occurs to-morrow in this city. Representatives of the order from all parts of northern Indiana are expected.

Miss Maude, the fifteen-year-old daughter of Deputy Sheriff T. A. Wilkinson, of 103 Lafayette street, is dangerously sick with typhoid fever.

Mr. D. R. McFeeley has purchased Eli Snyder's interest in the "Occidental," and the genial McFeeley presides over the house of call with princely honors.

Mrs. Harry Hammill and son left yesterday for Indianapolis to attend the funeral of Mr. Hammill's brother. Mr. Hammill went direct from Duluth, Minn., to Indianapolis.

Federal Marshal Wilkinson yesterday arrested W. F. Butter, of Collamer, Whitley county, for selling beer without a government license. Commissioner Harper sent him to Indianapolis for trial.

Last night Edward Lallen, employed by the Pittsburg road as yard brakeman, at Chicago, had his arm caught between the draw bars. It was very badly crushed and broken below the elbow.

Geo. W. Thompson, a tramp, who was stealing a ride on the Pittsburg railroad, was thrown from a car while the train was passing through Dunkirk, and his right leg was broken. He was taken in charge by the township trustees.

Marshal and Mrs. Dick Meyer are today celebrating the fifth anniversary of their wedding, and congratulations pour in on the good people. Mr. Meyer is one of the few men who wear well in office, and is universally popular and courteous.

The features of the Wilson & Rankin minstrels are all new. Among them are the Balloon Ascension, the Adonis clog, Creme-del-a-cream song and dance and many others. The first part is a revelation in minstrelsy. The opening scene represents a garden and several acts are introduced before they assemble in the ball room. The costumes are in the time of Louis XIV.

Some definite action regarding the consolidation of the Wabash proper and the Wabash western is looked for this week. Parties who are well informed as to the movements and the actions of Jay Gould regarding the reorganization of the Wabash proper, state that he (Mr. Gould) has acted very honorably in the matter showing a willingness to settle all questions at issue in a fair and just manner to all parties interested.

The board of trade statement of the movement of through and local east bound tonnage out of Chicago, for the past week, which includes grain and flour, hides, wool, and lumber, shows a total of 47,471 tons, a decrease of 1,555 tons as compared with the previous week. The Pennsylvania lines led with the largest volume, a goodly portion of it flour, and the Lake Shore, Michigan Central, and Nickel Plate make good showings.

A circular has just been issued which lays down the law with regard to transportation of corpes, as follows: "A corpse requires one full first-class limited ticket, and no baggage must be checked on that ticket. The body must be accompanied by at least one adult person. It must be carried in the baggage car, and must be accompanied by a physician's certificate to the effect that the deceased did not die of any contagious disease. That is the law on every railroad in the United States."

Rev. and Mrs. S. A. Northrop are attending the National Baptist convention at Indianapolis. The denomination of Baptists outnumbers any other in the United States, excepting the Roman Catholic. The M. E. church, in its various branches, equals it, but not in any one division. The number of communicants in this country is now, in round numbers, 250,000. Indiana contains 45,000, Ohio 55,000, Illinois 75,000 and Kentucky 190,000. Roger Williams taught the Baptist doctrines first in Rhode Island in 1836, after his banishment from the Massachusetts colonies. At about the same date Hamserd Knollys came from Europe as a missionary and established Baptist churches on the south Atlantic coast colonies. From these two men the present growth has come.

James R. Culbertson et al sue J. C. Bowser et al, to quiet title. Chas. W. Kuhne is attorney for the plaintiffs.

It is said that Mr. Fred Eckert contemplates erecting a $100,000 hotel near the Masonic Temple. Mr. Eckert can do it.

Col. C. A. Zollinger is in the city to attend the marriage of his daughter, which THE SENTINEL noted yesterday and to-day.

The new Wayne Building association has been incorporated under the state laws. The subscriptions to the loan will be paid in Friday night.

Carrie B. Hill sues John D. Hill for divorce. He was cruel to her in the face of the fact that she supported him for a long time. J. B. Harper filed the complaint.

Mr. R. T. McDonald said to-day that the Jenney Electric light company were negotiating for the purchase of the feeder canal with a view to utilizig the water power for their city and incandescent light systems.

The accident that occurred at the Pittsburg round house last night witnessed some vivid scenes and caused as much consternation among the employes as the bursting of a bomb would have done. Many of the boys were at work at the time, and when the sound of the falling room came to their ears, they rushed in every direction. Geo. Carling, fell through the seat of his "Mother Hubbard" pants, and Jim Sloan, the clerk in the machine shops, with Ed. Challenger, the boiler shop clerk, had urgent business just then and their coat tails were seen flying in the breeze as the rushed from the shop in dismay. Frank Mannis was thoroughly frightened, Wm. Rhodes and G. W. Telley rushed about frantically, F. Fitzpatrick and George Schmall attempted vainly to escape from the iron-barred windows and Capt. S. L. Lewis happened to remember that he had an important errand to attend to at the new yards just then. The scene was a vivid one. All of the boys were completely frightened and many of them thought that their last day was at hand.

One of Baltimore's foremost Commission Merchants, Mr. W. Edwin Chipchase (of Chipchase Bros.,) writes:—A few days since I sprained my left foot. The pain was so severe that I could hardly walk at all. I saw your Salvation Oil advertised, so desermined to give it a square trial. A few applications relieved me entirely and my foot is now as strong as ever. For the relief and cure of sprains and inflammations I regard it as a preparation of great merit.

THIS IS A HUMMER.

The Forest Fires in Maumee Township Boil the River Water and Sweep Things.

The Woodburn Gazette says: "A week or so ago fire broke out in the great scope of woods south of Woodburn, and from that time, has been a continual mass of flames, and has gradually cleared its way to the rural districts of Bull Rapids, doing great damage. The strong wind on last Sunday drove it very fierce into the timber lining the banks of the Maumee river. People were aroused from their pleasant dreams by the roar of the flames about their houses, and were compelled to flee to the river for a haven of safety. On reaching the river, they plunged in the foaming tide to their necks and were terrified to find that they must remain in that perilous condition for several hours. During that time the water had boiled down until it was only knee deep, and the stones in the bottom of the river were actually hot. Dead fish floated on the bosom of the river in great numbers. At Mudsock church, last Sabbath, people were compelled to leave the church during the services to fight fire. By a great effort they saved their church. The sun has not been visible here for five days on account of the smoke arising from the forest fire. Great quantities of game is being driven north. The last telegram we received (by special wire) says that the fire is growing more fierce every hour."

It is well known that six months in the year the most expert merchant tailors of New York are employed in making up the fine custom clothing, of which we are showing the most complete stock ever brought to Fort Wayne. Sam, Pete & Max are the recognized gentlemen outfitters and fashion leaders of Indiana. 26-eod

Hon. J. B. White expects to go to Washington next week.

"But John P. Robinsoon, he sez, they didn't know everythin' down in Judee." They certainly knew little, if they did not know that the safest quickest and most pleasant cure for croup, bronchitis, cough, cold in the chest, etc., is Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

WILLIAMS' ADDITION,

South of Creighton avenue, the following streets: Harrison, Webster, Taber and Suttenfield, are 60 feet in width and are "parked," as is customary in many other cities east and west. With the regular six feet walk, nine feet more are taken from the street, fifteen feet on each side, for grass plat and trees. This is called "parking" the street. Which still remains amply wide for carriages and wagons. Where streets are thus "parked" fences are usually considered a superfluous expense and the roadway is more easily kept rounded up in good condition for driving.

SLUGGERS FIGHT.

Carney and McAuliffe Indulge in a Prize Fight of Seventy-Four Rounds, But Neither Wins.

BOSTON, Nov. 16.—Carney, the champion light weight of England, and McAuliffe, of America, fought after one o'clock this morning. The beginning was delayed in trying get away from the crowd. In the first round McAuliffe planted a blow under Carney's chin, which sent him to the floor. Up to the end of the ninth round the battle seemed to be going all in McAuliffe's favor. Carney, becoming desperate, when the twelfth round opened, made a savage rush at McAuliffe, who met it with a hard blow on the right eye and followed it with a terrific right hander on the bridge of Carney's nose, which split that organ open, and the first blood for McAuliffe flowed.

The fighting after this was heavy and both men were badly punished. From the twenty-fifth round to the forty-second round, Carney had something the best of it. In the sixty-second round McAuliffe's left ear was cut open. The sixty-sixth round was marked by terrific exchanges of blows. In the sixty-ninth round Carney butted McAuliffe in the breast with his head and forced him to the floor. McAuliffe's friends became greatly excited and repeatedly called "foul," many of them breaking into the ring.

Quiet was restored and the fight went on, but in the next round McAuliffe's friends claimed Carney had kicked his antagonist in the abdomen and again claimed "foul." Great excitement ensued when the claim was not allowed, but the battle went on with the same frightful slugging, that had so far characterised the struggle. In the seventy-fourth round, after some heavy exchanges, the men clinched and both fell to the floor, with Carney on top.

The friends of both parties rushed into the ring, claiming the fight for either man and everybody claiming "foul."

When the referee could be heard he declared that as this was a fight to the finish and neither man had been knocked out he could not do otherwise than postpone the fight.

A BAD ACCIDENT,

Which Causes the Roof of the Pittsburg Round House to Fall In.

Last night, about 7 o'clock, as passenger engine No. 181 was being taken into the round house of the Pennsylvania company's shops, at this place, an accident occurred that might have been fatal in its nature. It came into the round house at a pretty good rate of speed and as it did so struck a half open door and tore a huge iron pier from its foundations and let a large portion of the roof of the building fall in. The brick walls gave way and pieces of iron, wood and brick were thrown in every direction and piled up around the locomotive in a fearful shape.

The engineer and fireman, who were on the locomotive at the time, were uninjured, although how they escaped without being hurt is somewhat miraculous, as the ruins of the despoiled part of the building must have flown around their ears pretty closely. A large number of the employes of the shops were working at the time the accident occurred and the noise of the wreck brought them from their different departments to the round house. Considerable excitement prevailed for a while and everybody in the shops was badly scared.

The whole side of the roof of the round house is caved in, the iron pier is torn away, a large part of the brick wall is badly damaged and the headlight of the locomotive is demolished. This, with some other injuries, is the amount of the damage and it will probably take several hundred dollars to cover the loss.

You can find the best of America's custom made clothing; cut, made and trimmed by New York's first-class merchant tailors, in nobby Cutaway, Frock and Prince Albert business and dress suits at Sam, Pete & Max's at one-half charged by home tailors. Seeing is believing. 26-s-o-d

A Farmer Injured.

Samuel H. Davis, a prominent farmer of St. Joe township, walked against a barrel of cider in his yard the other night and fell with sufficient force to injure him severely about the breast. He is confined to his bed.

A STOUT old lady got out of a crowded omnibus the other day, exclaiming, "Well, that's a relief anyhow." To which the driver replied, "So the hosses thinks, mum."

The universal remark of persons who have examined styles and prices at the merchant tailors, is that our custom made overcoats are better made, higher toned and cost about one-half less than tailors charge. SAM, PETE & MAX. 26-eod

HOY IS THIS?

The Electric Light Works to Shut Down for Want of Water—Elevators Practically Useless—A Water Famine.

Yesterday afternoon, last night and to-day it dawned upon quite a number of citizens that the water supply was exhausted.

The elevator in A. C. Trentman's wholesale grocery house stopped midway in the building yesterday with a barrel of sugar on it. Mr. Hubert Berghoff telephoned the situation to the water works office and they gave sufficient power to manipulate the elevator after some time.

"We have not sufficient power to carry our bell boy up the elevator," said Mr. D. M. Miller, one of the Aveline house proprietors at noon.

Mr. H. W. Mordhurst's elevator failed perform even its light service.

Similar stories are told everywhere and worse than this, the city is to be enveloped in darkness.

Mr. R. T. McDonald said the city could not supply sufficient water for the boiler, at their power station, near Superior street, and he served notice on the trustees and mayor that the city would not be lighted to-night for the reason named. "We pulled through last night by shutting off half of the lights," said Mr. McDonald, "but to-night we will attend to our private lights and let the city lamps go out."

Under these circumstances the city cannot stop the $150 a night the Jenny company get for lighting the city, and the people are out just that sum.

The flushing of sewers continues, but the fact cannot materially affect the water supply, because but one stream is used and there is not force enough to it to cleanse a water basin.

The size of the whole situation is that after the expenditure of a huge pile of money, the city of Fort Wayne wakes up at this late day to find it has no water to supply the people or the great business houses and manufactories.

As long as prejudices continue to rule the minds of officials, this deplorable state of affairs will continue.

LATER.

The water works trustees were called to meet at 2 o'clock, but when THE SENTINEL youth went to the office he found Mr. Kunkle and Mr. Iten in consultation with Mr. H. M. Williams and Captain Hettler. They had no information to give.

WOMEN'S WORK.

The National Convention of the W. C. T. U. in Session at Nashville—Miss Willard's Address.

NASHVILLE, Nov. 16.—The National W. C. T. U. met to-day with representatives from almost every state and territory. Upon the platform were seated Mrs. Judge Thomson, of Hillsboro, O., the mother of the crusade of 1874; Pundita Ramabor, the vice-president of the world's W. C. T. U. for India, and the officers of the National union. The hall is crowded with members of the convention and visitors. Perfect quietness prevailed while Miss Willard gave selections from her annual address. She was frequently interrupted with applause as she detailed the advancement of prohibition and the cause for which they labored.

JOHN STADTLER.

He Goes Into a Whisky Deal and Attempts Sharp Practices.

Some time ago John Stadtler, who keeps a saloon at the corner of Calhoun and Washington streets, purchased a big consignment of liquors on credit, but very promptly executed to his father-in-law, Edward Glaser, a chattel mortgage on the stock.

Accordingly Mr. Glaser yesterday obtained judgment for $2,648.65 against the liquor dealer.

His other creditors heard of this and this morning the following additional suits were filed:

Solomon Kline et al. sue John Stadtler to replevin a stock of liquors worth $250; Joseph Frieberg et al. sue to recover from Stadtler $161.25; Leo M. Frank sues Stadtler for $413; Henry Loeser et al. sue Stadtler for $112.18.

In all these cases Bell & Morris are attorneys for the claimants, and for a week past the saloon has been under police surveillance to see that none of the whisky were spirited away.

Sheriff Vilberg this afternoon levied on Mr. Stadtler's stock under the mortgage of his father-in-law, Mr. Glaser, and closed up the saloon.

Bell & Morris issued replevin papers under their suits and placed them in the hands of Coroner Stellhorn, who will take the stock from the sheriff when a sufficient delivery bond is executed.

Mr. Geo. E. Small, formerly of Marion township, and now residing in Archer's addition, on St Mary's avenue, held ticket 4,169, and was presented by Messrs. Sam, Pete and Max, the people's clothiers, with the valuable city lot, corner Spring street and St. Mary's avenue. 12-1&wtf

KILLED HIS MAN!

A Correspondent of the Cincinnati "Commercial Gazette," Is Assaulted and He Shoots His Man.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 16.—Thomas Green, of Maysville, and Lew Baldwin, of Nicholasville, met here at 11:30 and Green killed Baldwin in a shooting affray. Green is the correspondent for the Cincinnati Commercial-Gazette and wrote communications concerning the conduct of the election in Jessemine county. He charged Baldwin and others with certain unlawful acts. Baldwin replied, denouncing Green in the strongest language.

When they met this morning, in front of the Phoenix hotel, the quarrel opened and Baldwin denounced Green by calling him offensive names. Green either could not hear or did not choose to resent, and finally Baldwin drew a pistol, hitting Green on the head, and finally firing but missing him. Then Green fired two, his shots striking Baldwin on the left shoulder and cutting the aorta. Baldwin fired several shots, one of which slightly cut Green on the left side, and then he fell dead. Green's wounds were found to be trifling.

QUIET REIGNS

Supreme Around the Railroads and Factories, and the News Obtained is "Squeezed Out."

Forty-eight car loads of live stock went east over the Nickel Plate last night.

Paymaster Sullivan, of the Grand Rapids and Indiana road, is making his monthly rounds.

The employes of the Pennsylvania company, in this city, will receive their monthly pay to-morrow.

The baggage and effects of the "Boy Tramp" troupe was piled up at the Pittsburg depot this morning.

Charles Miller, the foreman on the Muncie road, is rejoicing over the arrival of a new boy at his home.

The Nickel Plate took twelve cars of excursionists through the city, yesterday, from Cleveland to Chicago.

Wm. Pappert, one of the popular moulders at the Bass works, has the thanks of our reporter for favors.

H. W. Dorfmeyer, of the electric light works, left this morning for St. Louis on business for his company.

The Grand Rapids and Indiana railroad have voluntarily raised the wages of the engineers, firemen and train men on the road.

The new side track that has been built for the Bass foundry, near the works, was connected with the main track of the Wabash to-day.

Yesterday an engine run into a flat car loaded with dirt, near the Olds works, on the Wabash track and the dirt car was damaged somewhat.

Several tramps hung around the railroads this morning and annoyed people with their piteous appeals for help. They were strong and able-bodied men.

Stephen M. Brown, the engineer at the Bass works, has been transferred and taken charge of the large engine at the new moulding rooms of the works.

The electric light system in the Pennsylvania shops and yards will be in operation this evening. The wires are all stretched and the engines are being placed.

Joseph Bossler, of the Bass foundry moulding rooms, is at Red Key, Ind., attending the marriage of his sister, Miss Emma Bossler, which occurred at that place to-day.

The railways entering Chicago have agreed to construct viaducts over the crossings and to fence their tracks on condition that they may run their trains at unlimited speed.

Forty of the brakemen on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road, Monday, absolutely refused to go out on double-headers, and freight business was temporarily suspended.

Assistant General Superintendent G. W. Stevens, of the Wabash, accompanied by Mr. John Bleekman, his private secretary, passed through the city last evening, bound for Decatur, Ill., where Mr. Stevens' office is now located.

William Smith, the popular fireman at the Olds wheel works, was at New Haven last night attending a reception that was given at that place. He drove down with a Texas pony and this may account for the fact that he had not returned to the works this morning when our reporter made his early rounds.

The family of Col. Horace Morgan, of Decatur, Ill., have put in 102 years on the Wabash railway. The father, Horace Morgan, was in the service of the road 13 years; Horace A. Morgan, a son, has been on the road 28 years; George K. Morgan, another son, has served 25 years; Walter P. Morgan, a third son, served 32 years; A. S. Morgan, a fourth son, spent four years of his life on the Wabash, making in all 102 years of service by this family. Horace A. is now conductor on the Decatur and Jacksonville accommodation; George K. runs a passenger from St. Louis to Chicago, and Walter P. manages a passenger from Decatur to Chicago.

Marion township must have a mascot, having been lucky in taking two first-class farm wagons, the fine Deering self-binder, and the valuable city lot, all presented by Sam, Pete & Max.

FOR $10,000.

Elizabeth Ring Sues the Nickel Plate for that Snug Sum.

Elizabeth Ring, through her attorneys, L. M. Ninde and Marshal & McNagny, this morning filed suit to recover $10,000 damages from the Nickel Plate Railroad company. Mrs. Ring lives in Whitley county and some two months ago out there, her husband, Franklin M. Ring, was at work in the company's gravel pit. The high bank slid on him and killed him. Mrs. Ring seeks the amount named to compensate her for her loss.

A party of young men from the Pittsburg shops and a few outsiders, are contemplating the renting of a hall this winter and fitting it up into a private gymnasium. They will purchase boxing gloves, horizontal bars, Indian clubs and all that will tend to make it a place of amusement where they can spend the long evenings. Geo. Carling is at the head of it, and we feel confident that they will succeed. An organization of this kind has a tendency to keep young men away from saloons and beer gardens.

SLIPPING BY.

The Y. M. C. A. Fair and Festival Can Not Always Last—To-night One of the Many Features.

To-night it is presumed, from present indications, will be one of immense success at Y. M. C. A. fair. The crowd last night was much larger than the night previous. The ladies are as diligently employed, the booths are fully as gay and pretty, and everything moves with the same smooth success that has characterized the fair from the first. Let nothing prevent one from visiting the fair this evening. There are many things to be enjoyed to-night. The dinner feature of the fair is one which is well patronized. The price of a good meal is only twenty-five cents. The booths are "dressed" differently every night, which gives to the visitors new scenes to observe.

NOTES.

Come.

Orchestra music at the fair again to-night.

Get a pattern cut at the Y. M. C. A. cutting department.

Hundreds of people were fed at the Y. M. C. A. rooms this noon.

Photos of many clergymen are on exhibition and for sale at the fair.

A large party from Bluffton took dinner at the Y. M. C. A. to-day.

See that you have one brick in the building.

Now is the chance to get tailor cut patterns at the Y. M. C. A. fair.

The latest novelty at the Y. M. C. A. attracted considerable attention for the first night. We speak of the National Garment cutter. The ones donated to the Y. M. C. A. fair are all that will be sold in this city.

Thursday is Wabash day.

Friday is Pittsburg day.

Patronize the fair. The young ladies' drill will take place this evening.

Lam One, one of our Chinese laundry men, this morning made the fair a present of twenty-four packages of very fine imported tea. The present came unsolicited and shows that our Chinese brethren have the cause of Christianity at heart.

The Dutch baby will be one of the features of the fair to-night.

Daily News: "The fair of the Y. M. C. A. was not so well attended last evening as it should have been. The christian people of this community are not coming up to the full measure of their duty in this enterprise. The fair is very attractive. It is conducted upon methods that cannot give offense to anyone. The cause is one of the most beneficent that ever appealed to the hearts of men."

Baldwin and Dawson & Karns each kindly loaned the fair a fine Upright piano.

Look for the sign of "Popular Fund."

The Old Ladies' Home will get the fine stove.

In order to accommodate all who have not yet subscribed anything to the building fund a subscription book will be found in charge of E. F. Yarnelle, near the flower booth, where those who desire can make contributions. Every person ought to have a brick in the building. If you only feel able to give 25 cents, call and put your name down.

SOLOMON KELL.

A Perry Township Farmer Goes Wrong and Disappears.

Solomon Kell, one of the best known and wealthiest farmers in Perry township, is another victim to the snares of city life. Mr. Kell has a wife and five children, ranging in age from five to twenty years. They live out on their farm, which is worth every cent of $4,000, with only a slight encumbrance on it.

Mr. Kell has been swinging around the circle in Fort Wayne of late, and mingled with Hollis Gillet, Wm. and Frank Fitzgerald and Mike Wickliffe, all of whom used to be prosperous farmers before they tasted the fleeting sweets of metropolitan life.

Mr. Kell needed capital to continue the festivities and he borrowed $50 here and there until he secured something like $1,000 from his relatives and friends.

"Mr. Kell has left the state and abandoned a good family," said Prosecutor Robinson, last night, and then he detailed the facts as above outlined. Mr. Kell is about fifty years of age.

Graffe's Minstrels.

On Monday and Tuesday evenings, of next week, at Library Hall will be given a performance by Graffe's minstrels and the Fort Wayne Rifles. The preparations for this entertainment have been going on steadily for some time. The parts have been rehearsed carefully, so that the rendition of songs could hardly be improved upon. As to the tiresome business which is generally found in a minstrel performance, it can be said that the company is free from it. Aside from the minstrel performance, the Fort Wayne Rifles will give a fancy drill. Tickets now on sale. Don't miss it.

Daily Sentinel

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 16, 1887.

THE expense of living has greatly increased in Washington, and the high rents are troubling many Congressmen who have only their salaries to depend upon. Houses in the fashionable section rent for from $400 to $12,000 a year, and the $600 houses are, as a rule, little ones of six or eight rooms. Provisions are plenty, but prices are high.

J. H. SULLIVAN, who lives near Pilot Point, Texas, hearing the distressful bleats of one of his fall lambs, hurried out with his double-barreled shotgun. Hearing a tremendous rustling in the tree-tops, which somewhat confused the cries of the lamb, his attention was attracted thither. He saw an immense gray object in the top of one of the tallest trees. The object was discovered to be flapping its huge wings, and before the immense bird could free itself from the branches of the tree for an unobstructed flight with its victim he discharged both barrels of the gun into its body, felling it to the ground with the lamb. The capture proved to be a very large gray eagle, which measured six feet from tip to tip, with immense beak and talons. The eagle received two buckshot in its head.

THE question of making laces of iron and steel for ladies and children's wear is being discussed in art, mill and fashion circles. At the Centennial in 1876 a piece of steel rolled by a Pittsburgh mill was on exhibition which was so thin and light that it weighed much less than a book leaf, and could be blown from the hand easier than a piece of paper of the same size. The iron leaf was rolled on a train of rolls upon which heavy tank and boiler iron is now rolled. Experts say that curtains and other fine laces can be made of soft malleable iron, and in every way be used with greater satisfaction than cotton laces. The sheets will necessarily have to be rolled down to an exceedingly low gauge and then pressed into any desirable pattern and shape. There will be no trouble in furnishing iron laces for ladies and children's wear, with their names and other ornamentations in filagree design.

AFTER a trial of only six months in the face of a formidable opposition, both secret and open, and many discouraging circumstances, says the Chicago Tribune, it is not too much to claim that the interstate act is overcoming every obstacle and justifying the expectations of its supporters. Outside and independent of any action of the commission the self-operative features of the act are becoming widely and beneficially felt, and the conspiracy to wreck the law is rapidly breaking down. Railroad rates are falling steadily and seeking a reasonable and just level. Railroad managers now get together not to raise but to lower tariffs. Facilities for travel and transportation that were withdrawn six months ago are being restored. Almost daily some road gives notice of its intent to withdraw from an association to maintain rates and to promote the business of its own line by lowering charges. The rate-maintaining associations devised to take the place of pools are breaking down under their own weight. Without a fixed division of traffic or earnings it is impossible to hold rival lines together in a combination to keep up rates. The effect of prohibiting pools has been to destroy the great railroad "trust" which was rapidly forming in this country and to restore competition between carriers at common points.

THERE is considerable talk in the Patent Office just now concerning an invention patented recently, which, in the opinion of some, will be a formidable rival of the telephone, Mr. Bell's monopoly. The invention is an electric type-writer. The instrument in appearance somewhat resembles an ordinary mechanical type-writer. It has a key-board, and the types are placed on steel bars, which play upon a common center, as is the case with the type-writer. The motive power used is electricity, by means of which evenness of action is assured. No matter how heavily or how lightly the keys are struck the impression on the paper is the same. A remarkable feature of the invention used as a type-writer is that the carriage moves automatically both forward and backward. When the end of the line is reached the carriage returns to the starting point without the aid of the operator and the paper bar moves one notch, so that all that is required of the operator is to depress the keys. The most important field for the new invention is said to be in connection with the telegraph. It is said at the Patent Office that the instrument can be used both as a transmitter and receiver over a single wire, no matter how great the distance may be. The receiving instrument does not require the attendance of an operator, but prints the dispatch automatically. The instruments at both ends of the line print the dispatch sent, and a safeguard against mistakes is provided. It is claimed that the electric type-writer will be valuable as a local aid to business, and offers many advantages over the telephone.

GEN. BENJAMIN F. BUTLER has for years been a close student of Shakspeare, and has a large acquaintance among Shakspearean scholars. To a New York correspondent Gen. Butler said the other day, in relation to Mr. Donnelly's Shakspearean theories: "I am very greatly interested in the matter of the authorship of the so-called Shakspeare plays, and am well acquainted with Mr. Donnelly. I knew him twenty years ago in Congress, and I have read his books. Long before I ever saw him, however, I became thoroughly convinced that Bacon was the author of the plays. I am a firm believer in the Baconian theory. The author of the plays had access to an enormous library, and his research into all languages was amazing. Shakspeare was a low fellow. Bacon says somewhere that it will all come out some day. As Donnelly says, it is highly probable that Bacon ran a cipher through his works. He delighted in ciphers and everybody used them in his day. All messages between courts were in cipher. It is very reasonable to believe that Bacon inserted a cipher in his play. Everything else points logically to such a conclusion, and it remains only to discover the key to this to establish beyond question Bacon's claims. You suggest that either one of the three things must be true: (1) That Donnelly is right, (2) that he has made a mistake and is deceived, or (3) that he is a fraud. Now, I know personally that the latter is not the case. Mr. Donnelly is perfectly honest. I also know that he is too thorough and careful to make a mistake. That leaves the first suggestion, which is right. I feel full confidence that Mr. Donnelly has discovered the true cipher, and will prove all that he claims, and that he will establish Bacon's undisputed authorship to the Shakespearean plays."

A WASHINGTON letter says: The reptile division of the Smithsonian Institution has begun a series of experiments for the purpose of discovering, if possible, a chemical antidote for rattlesnake poison. In this connection, it is understood, the use of whisky will be avoided, and the experiments will be made with a view to finding an antidote more effective and more acceptable to all classes of victims than the common remedy for snake-bite. Four monster rattlesnakes of a warlike nature have been secured from the mountain regions of Virginia, and a number of pigeons and rabbits are to be the martyrs for the cause of science. The poison will be secured by a method which is simple, though, doubtless, somewhat annoying to the snakes and not a little dangerous for the scientist. The snake is seized just behind the head, and when he has been excited to about the proper degree of frenzy a small piece of cotton is thrust into his mouth, and into this he is at liberty to strike his fangs as long as he feels like it. The poisonous venom—an odorless, amber-colored fluid, is absorbed by the cotton, which is finally removed from his snakeship's mouth and soaked in glycerine. In this way a solution of rattlesnake poison, 5 per cent. strong, is obtained. The pigeons and rabbits, as the subjects, are inoculated with this poisonous solution by means of a hypodermic syringe, and while under the influence of the venom they will be experimented upon. It is proposed, if possible, to discover some chemical which, when applied to the wound, will neutralize the poison and prevent fatal effects.

Coca Culture.

Coca, a shrub growing wild on the mountains of Peru and Bolivia, is coming into extensive cultivation on account of the rapidly increasing demand for cocaine, the principal alkaloid obtained from its leaves. The plant resembles the tea-plant, is cultivated in rows like Indian corn, and in two years attains its full height of five or six feet, bearing leaves about two inches long, with white blossoms and red berries. The leaves are gathered several times a year, and the bushes produce for many years. The peculiar virtues of coca as a nerve stimulant have long been known, not only to medical men, but to the Peruvian Indians and miners, who chew the leaves mixed with quick-lime, much as tobacco is chewed, and who are thus enabled to resist fatigue to a remarkable degree. It was not until 1860, however, that the active principle was isolated, while the great value of cocaine as a local anæsthetic was accidentally discovered only some three years ago.—Arkansaw Traveler.

The Noble Boston Man.

A Boston broker lost a wallet containing $15,000 on the street and a newsboy found it and brought it to the owner. The man struggled with a terrible temptation to be mean and sordid for a moment, and then, forgetting self and casting to the winds his greed of gain as he trampled the temptation under his feet, gave the honest boy permission to go on the Common and play every day. "We can trust you," sobbed the grateful man; "we know that you will keep off the grass." O how often this opportunity to make others happy by a kind word, a gentle smile, or some little act of kindness knocks at our door and we heed it not, until it is too late. O that more people were like the Boston man. (P. S.—They are.)—Burdette, in Brooklyn Eagle.

The Elephant as a Logger.

In Ceylon no railroads stretch from the wooded districts of the interior to the sea coast, and the timber cut on the mountains has to be dragged wearily over the miles of rough country intervening between the place of its growth and the sea. From the time the tree is felled and divested of its limbs until it is formed into rafts along the shore all the mechanical labor is performed by the elephant, says a writer in the Boston Courier. A drove of these animals, varying in number from five to ten, are conducted into the woods by two or three natives and set to work. They know what is required of them, and at once pair off generally working in couples to begin their day's labor. Seizing a huge log with their trunks, they roll it upon their tusks, and, holding it firmly in place by coiling their trunk about it, they lift it bodily from the ground and place it upon the rollers which are to aid in its transportation to the beach. In cases where the clearing will not admit of their walking abreast with their burden they will slide along, carefully avoiding all trees and stumps, until they place the log on its bed as squarely as could the most skillful engineer; then returning at a leisurely gait they pick up another log and transport that in the same methodical manner, until the land-raft has assumed the required proportion.

When the ground tier has been completed and they commence to build up, the ingenuity of the animal is most wonderfully displayed in lifting and depositing the heavy timbers in their place. One will lay his end down, and, passing over to his companion, they will together carry that end as far across the foundation as they can reach, and drop it. Then both will return to the first end, handling that in like manner, until by successively treating each end they work the log into place. The several squads pass and repass one another without jostling or in any way interfering with the work; and all this is done without a word from the drivers, who spend most of their time sleeping peacefully beneath the grateful shade of some neighboring palm. When the pile is completed the overseers lash it together with heavy chains and place rough harness, consisting of breast-band and traces, upon the larger animals of the drove, and attach them to the structure, preparatory to dragging it to the shore. This part of the business the elephants seem strongly to resent, for the moment the harnesses are produced the bulls set up a dreadful trumpeting, flourish their trunks in the air, and assume a most ferocious mien, but a few prods from the good soon reduce them to subjection and they start for the beach without further delay. The smaller animals pick up the rollers that are left behind, carry them ahead and lay them in place, the work being conducted on the same principle upon which buildings are moved in our own country. On reaching the water's edge the elephant displays signs of the greatest pleasure, being invariably allowed an opportunity to take a bath, which is heartily enjoyed by them.

This completes one day's work. The next morning sees them placing the timber in the water and building a floating raft, which later is towed off by the ship's crew awaiting the cargo.

Lifelong Disappointment.

Even if one acquiesces in the loss of liberty the deprivation is always a sad one. A visitor at the Convent of Turgis, in Italy, describes the disappointed longing of one of its inmates, an aged woman, who had been brought up in a convent, and, when her education was complete, at the request of her friends—no dowry, and therefore no husband, having been found—had taken the veil.

She could not remember having walked in a street in all her life, and with this fact was connected her greatest earthly disappointment.

Some three years before I met her she had been sent from Dijon to this convent at Turgis. The journey occupied about forty hours, and she was joyfully animated by the hope of just once traversing the streets on foot.

But alas for the frailty of human hopes! The lady superior, knowing nothing of this secret longing, and deciding that a woman of more than 80 years of age would be glad to drive, sent a close carriage to meet her at the railway station.

There were tears in the poor old woman's eyes as she said to me: "And now I shall never walk in a street!"—Youth's Companion.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferers at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub wakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Jan. 19-sodawly.

SKIN SCALP BLOOD.

Having been a sufferer for two years and a half from a disease caused by a bruise on the leg, and having been cured by the Cuticura Remedies when all other methods and remedies failed, I deem it my duty to recommend them. I visited Hot Springs to no avail, and tried several doctors without success, and at last our principal druggist, Mr. John F. Finley (to whom I shall ever feel grateful), spoke to me about Cuticura, and I commenced to give them a trial with the result that I am perfectly cured. There is now no sore about me. I think I can show the largest surface where my sufferings sprang from of any one in the state. The Cuticura Remedies are the best blood and skin cure manufactured. I refer to druggist John F. Finley and Dr. D. C. Montgomery, both of this place, and to Dr. Smith, of Lake Lee, Miss.

ALEXANDER BEACH, Greenville, Miss.

Mr. Beach used the Cuticura Remedies, at our request, with results as above stated.

SAVED MY MOTHER'S LIFE.

Ever since I can remember, my mother has suffered from a milk leg. Nothing would do her any good. She had the best medical talent, but they all did her no good. She suffered with her leg for thirty years and never knew a well day. She would have to sit up half the night, holding up her leg and moaning. She had no peace. She used all the best known remedies in the country without effect. I asked her to try your Cuticura remedies. Got her a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent, and she took it, and has taken in all about six or seven bottles, and now she is a well woman to-day. Her leg is entirely healed, and her health was never better. She can go out every day, something she has not done in ten years, so you see I cannot help stating to you about your wonderful Cuticura Remedies. You have saved my mother's life. I cannot find words to express my gratitude. I have advertised your Cuthura Remedies far and near.

Sneezing Catarrh.

The distressing sneeze, sneeze, sneeze, the acrid, watery discharges from the eyes and nose, the painful inflammation extending to the throat, the swelling of the mucous lining, causing choking sensations, cough, ringing noises in the head and splitting headache, are but few of the symptoms are to thousands who suffer periodically from head colds or influenza, and who live in ignorance of the fact that a single application of Sanford's Radical Cure for Catarrh will afford instantaneous relief.

By this treatment in cases of simple Catarrh given but a faint idea of what this remedy will do in the chronic forms, where the breathing is obstructed by cheating, putrid mucous accumulations, the hearing affected, smell and taste gone, throat ulcerated and hacking cough gradually fastening itself upon the debilitated system. Then it is that the marvellous curative power of Sanford's Radical Cure manifests itself in instantaneous and grateful relief. Cure begins from the first application. It is rapid, radical, permanent, economical, safe.

Sanford's Radical Cure consists of one bottle of the Radical Cure, one box of Catarrhal Solvent, and one Improved Inhaler, price $1.

A Boon

To mankind, said a member of the State Medical Society of Ga., at one of its meetings, "and the prescription ought to be given to the medical fraternity for the benefit of the Profession, for no such combination exists in the Pharmacopœa as that of Simmons Liver Regulator." The late THOS. H. POWERS, of Philadelphia, America's greatest chemist, asserted "it was like the discovery of Dover, in his celebrated Dover's Powder, it could not be improved and it was wonderfully strange that the combination had never been made in an officinal form."

L. M. HINTON, M. D., Washington, Ark., says: "No other remedy within my knowledge can fill its place. I have been practicing medicine for twenty years, and have never been able to put up a vegetable compound that would, like Simmons Liver Regulator, promptly and effectively move the Liver to action and at the same time aid (instead of weakening) the digestive powers."

Symptoms such as bitter or bad taste in the mouth; pain in the back, often mistaken for Rheumatism; sour stomach; loss of appetite; bowels alternately costive and lax; headache; loss of memory, with a painful sensation of having failed to do something which ought to have been done; debility; low spirits; a thick yellow appearance of the skin and eyes; a dry cough often mistaken for Consumption, indicate Liver disease, and if not regulated in time great suffering, wretchedness and death will often ensue.

Price $1. Sold by all Druggists. Prepared by J. H. ZEILIN & Co., Philadelphia, Pa.

WHAT AILS YOU?

Do you feel dull, languid, low-spirited, lifeless, and indescribably miserable, both physically and mentally; experience a sense of fullness or bloating after eating, or of "goneness," or emptiness of stomach in the morning, tongue coated, bitter or bad taste in mouth, irregular appetite, dizziness, frequent headaches, blurred eyesight, "floating specks" before the eyes, nervous prostration or exhaustion, irritability of temper, hot flushes, alternating with chilly sensations, sharp, biting, transient pains here and there, cold feet, drowsiness after meals, wakefulness, disturbed and unrefreshing sleep, constant, indescribable feeling of dread, or of impending calamity?

If you have all, or any considerable number of these symptoms, you are suffering from that most common of American maladies—Bilious Dyspepsia, or Torpid Liver, associated with Dyspepsia, or Indigestion. The more complicated your disease has become, the greater the number and diversity of symptoms. No matter what stage it has reached, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will subdue it, if taken according to directions for a reasonable length of time. If not cured, complications multiply and Consumption of the Lungs, Skin Diseases, Heart Disease, Rheumatism, Kidney Disease, or other grave maladies are quite liable to set in and, sooner or later, induce a fatal termination.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery acts powerfully upon the Liver, and through that great blood-purifying organ, cleanses the system of all blood-taints and impurities, from whatever cause arising. It is equally efficacious in acting upon the Kidneys, and other excretory organs, cleansing, strengthening, and healing their diseases. As an appetizing, restorative tonic, it promotes digestion and nutrition, thereby building up both flesh and strength. In malarial districts, this wonderful medicine has gained great celebrity in curing Fever and Ague, Chills and Fever, Dumb Ague, and kindred diseases.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

CURES ALL HUMORS,

from a common Blotch, or Eruption, to the worst Scrofula. Salt-rheum, "Fever-sores," Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine. Great Eating Ulcers rapidly heal under its benign influence. Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Eczema, Erysipelas, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, Hip-Joint Disease, "White Swellings," Goitre, or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands. Send ten cents in stamps for a large Treatise, with colored plates, on Skin Diseases, or the same amount for a Treatise on Scrofulous Affections.

"FOR THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE." Thoroughly cleanse it by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and good digestion, a fair skin, buoyant spirits, vital strength and healthy health will be established.

CONSUMPTION,

which is Scrofula of the Lungs, is arrested and cured by that remedy, if taken in the earlier stages of the disease. From its marvelous power over this terribly fatal disease, when first offering this now world-famed remedy to the public, Dr. Pierce thought seriously of calling it his "Consumption Cure," but abandoned that name as too restrictive for a medicine which, from its wonderful combination of tonic, or strengthening, alterative, or blood-cleansing, anti-bilious, pectoral, and nutritive properties, is unequaled, not only as a remedy for Consumption, but for all Chronic Diseases of the Liver, Blood, and Lungs.

For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Chronic Nasal Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, Severe Coughs, and kindred affections, it is an efficient remedy.

"It looks like copper-plate," remarked a prominent teacher of penmanship to a New York Mail and Express reporter, as he exhibited a handsome specimen of chirography from among the many specimens in his large collection.

"It couldn't have been written very rapidly," suggested the reporter.

"It was, though—as rapidly as the writer could make his fingers move."

"Probably he is a professional penman; book-keeper or teacher, likely."

"Neither, and he only learned to write four years ago. He was a soldier. During the war he lost his right arm. After the war he became a traveling salesman. Five years ago he lost a leg in a railroad accident, and then took up penmanship. He had to learn it all over again. But by perseverance you see how much he has accomplished. He is the secretary of a mining company down town, and draws $10,000 a year salary. One old thing about this is that he never was a good penman when he had both arms. But in learning to use his left hand he acquired the art of making all of his characters plainly. He made them slowly at first, and now he can't write badly, no matter how rapidly he works. He can do something more rapidly than that."

"What can that be?"

"He is an expert and rapid shorthand writer."

"Are there many like him?"

"I don't know of any equally expert, but I do know a large number of men who have lost their right arms and learned to write very rapidly with their left hands."

"Did you ever know of a man's learning to use both hands equally well?"

"There are a few instances on record. I heard of a man once who not only wrote with both hands, but wrote with them at the same time and a different sentence with each hand. He was the wonder of the profession, but he was more of a freak than anything else. Ambidexterity is a great accomplishment, but such experiences as that are not valuable, save as curiosities."

Thirty Years of Progress.

I have been traveling in Europe for the last thirteen months, seeing England, Scotland, France, Italy, Switzerland, and Germany, and my impression of the condition of these countries as compared with what appeared to be their condition more than thirty years ago is one of progress and improvement. This is the most manifest and the most astonishing in Italy. The despot's heel was on the brow of that lovely peninsula at my former visit in every one of her provinces. The education of the common people was almost utterly neglected. Newspapers were few, uninteresting, and subjected to a rigid censorship. The oldest documents of the Christian Church were often taken from travelers at the custom houses and confiscated as contraband. I saw the officials at Civita Vecchia rob a young Philadelphian of the Bible his mother had given him. The people were oppressed with a sense of wrong and hopeless of better things. There was little activity in trade, manufactures, or commerce. The very reverse is now true in all these particulars. Italy is filled with new life and new hope. No other nation has more fully accepted the best ideas of the civilization of the nineteenth century, and although the people, especially in the South, were sunk so deep in degradation that much remains to be done for their enlightenment, they are making rapid strides forward. There is no danger of reaction. The people are amused at the attempt to manufacture public sentiment by correspondents of foreign papers, who represent them as willing to part with some portion of their liberty. King Humbert has no desire to meet the fate of Emperor Maximilian. He knows that the nineteenth century is the nineteenth century.

France, too, has gained by freedom. The national character has gained in dignity and self-control. There are symptoms of the old maladies among the excitable populace of Paris and there may be dangers ahead; but it is becoming more and more evident that ever since the great revolution republicanism is the only form of government which is legitimate in France. The restoration of any dynasty, if brought about, will only mean its expulsion ten years afterward. The government of the people is the only government which can possibly be permanent among such people as the French, even if temporary defeats still await it.

In Germany the increase in material prosperity is the most striking feature. Next to that is the increase in national self-respect and the exultation in the achievement of national unity. In the southern provinces there is also a great advance in freedom of thought. Give Germany thirty years of peace more liberal principles will prevail in her government. At present the enthusiasm for the Emperor and for the ablest statesman whom the nineteenth century has produced makes a semi-absolutism acquiesced in.

One of the most striking things in England is the improvement of the common people in intelligence and education. England has now one of the best systems of popular education in the world, thanks to William Edward Forster and his coadjutors. The large number and the cheapness of the newspapers and the ability with which the provincial press is conducted, shows a striking change. The great growth of London and of the larger towns in general excites one's wonder. England shows no signs of decrepitude. There are gigantic evils still to be eradicated, but they are less than they were in the former generation.—Exchange.

Mr. A. S. Lauferty, the clothier, will be into Trentman's new block early in January.

The flour and spice mills of J. B. Morning & Co., run night and day. This is a great institution.

The butcher boys had a great time last night and swung the plump frauliens until broad day light.

Miss Hannah O'Connor entertained a company of her friends at her home, on East Lewis street, last night.

Mrs. Elizabeth C. Hanna and daughter, Miss Anna, are expected home from Europe inside of two weeks.

Supt. John Wilkinson and Harry Metzgar took Perry Snurr to the insane asylum this morning. Snurr is a dangerous lunatic.

The Wilson & Rankin minstrel party play at Richmond this evening. This is the best show on the road and no mistake about it.

Supt. Geo. F. Feltz went to Arcola to-day to inspect the Lake township schools. Mr. Feltz has visited eighty schools this term.

The new overcoats of the day policemen have not yet been completed by the tailor, and that is the reason they have not appeared in them.

Supt. W. W. Worthington is at Indianapolis to take the 18° in Scottish rite masonry. Mr. Worthington will go to Cincinnati to-morrow.

Mr. Robert Hammond and Miss Emma Zollinger will be married this evening at 5 o'clock at the residence of the bride's aunt, on East Main street.

Mr. Wm. Geake, of this city, was named as a member of the reception committee at the Scottish rite convocation at Indianapolis. Mr. Geake did not attend.

State's Attorney J. M. Robinson says there is no business for the grand jury next Monday. All the criminal cases have been tried before Judge O'Rourke on information.

The Morton club give a reception to-morrow evening. Democrats have been ruthlessly and entirely excluded from these festive occasions, because of their humble proclivities.

A sister of Paul Pettijohn, the lunatic who pulled out Superintendent Wilkinson's whiskers, wants him released from the state insane asylum in order to take him to Switzerland.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Greibel yesterday moved into their elegant new home on West Berry street. Mr. Greibel is a newspaper man and we rejoice at this evidence of prosperity.

At a meeting of Chicago ministers of all denominations, at the First Methodist church, Francis Murphy was requested to commence a winter campaign against intemperance in Chicago.

Supt. John Wilkinson will represent the Twelfth district at a meeting of the democratic state central committee at Indianapolis to-day. Hon. Edward O'Rourke delegated Mr. Wilkinson as his representative.

Ulrich Stutz and A. H. Carrier sue the county commissioners to restrain them from paying certain monies to Goodman & Co., until the firm settles for certain material. W. G. Colerick and A. A. Furman filed the complaint.

Mrs. Jacob Nirdlinger, of Toledo, who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. D. Zekind, on West Jefferson street, returned home last evening. Mrs. Zekind will probably move to Toledo in a short time and make her home with her daughter.

The Logansport Journal says: "Judge Checney, of Fort Wayne, spent Sunday in this city, the guest of Mayor Nelson. —A decision by the court of claims at Washington in favor of the American claimants in the French spoliation cases, will give snug fortunes to several gentlemen who were formerly well known residents of Fort Wayne."

E. A. Shirk of Peru, and C. B. Knowlton, of Logansport, two of the owners of the canal, asked the city of Lafayette to pay them a rental of $132,000 for the water from their property. The city of Lafayette called them rascals and refused to pay a cent, supposing it could continue to steal its water. The canal owners, however, opened the tail race to the stream and emptied it. Now the very smart officers of Lafayette are whistling to keep up courage.

Postmaster Keough is at South Bend on business.

The Old Fort Wayne house is being repainted and repaired.

Wm. Geller, of Broadway, will manufacture candy in his bakery.

Kellar, the magician, holds forth at the Temple Friday and Saturday.

The new Bursley block on Calhoun street is looming up in grand style.

The "Boy Tramp" is the attraction at the Academy to-night and to morrow night.

Bakers and milkmen who use fire gongs on their wagons can be fined under the city laws.

The police gathered Geo. Wethersly and Jennie Jones in last night. The illicit lovers paid $17 each to the mayor.

Federal Marshal Wilkinson and Esquire Daniel Harding went to Indianapolis last evening to attend the I. O. O. F. convention.

Receiver McNulta, of the Wabash railway, gave notice to-day of the withdrawal of his line from the Chicago and St. Louis passenger agreement.

The K. of P. Regimental reunion occurs to-morrow in this city. Representatives of the order from all parts of northern Indiana are expected.

Miss Maude, the fifteen-year-old daughter of Deputy Sheriff T. A. Wilkinson, of 103 Lafayette street, is dangerously sick with typhoid fever.

Mr. D. R. McFeeley has purchased Eli Snyder's interest in the "Occidental," and the genial McFeeley presides over the house of call with princely honors.

Mrs. Harry Hammill and son left yesterday for Indianapolis to attend the funeral of Mr. Hammill's brother. Mr. Hammill went direct from Duluth, Minn., to Indianapolis.

Federal Marshal Wilkinson yesterday arrested W. F. Butter, of Collamer, Whitley county, for selling beer without a government license. Commissioner Harper sent him to Indianapolis for trial.

Last night Edward Lallen, employed by the Pittsburg road as yard brakeman, at Chicago, had his arm caught between the draw bars. It was very badly crushed and broken below the elbow.

Geo. W. Thompson, a tramp, who was stealing a ride on the Pittsburg railroad, was thrown from a car while the train was passing through Dunkirk, and his right leg was broken. He was taken in charge by the township trustees.

Marshal and Mrs. Dick Meyer are today celebrating the fifth anniversary of their wedding, and congratulations pour in on the good people. Mr. Meyer is one of the few men who wear well in office, and is universally popular and courteous.

The features of the Wilson & Rankin minstrels are all new. Among them are the Balloon Ascension, the Adonis clog, Creme-de-la-cream song and dance and many others. The first part is a revelation in minstrelsy. The opening scene represents a garden and several acts are introduced before they assemble in the ball room. The costumes are in the time of Louis XIV.

Some definite action regarding the consolidation of the Wabash proper and the Wabash western is looked for this week. Parties who are well informed as to the movements and the actions of Jay Gould regarding the reorganization of the Wabash proper, state that he (Mr. Gould) has acted very honorably in the matter showing a willingness to settle all questions at issue in a fair and just manner to all parties interested.

The board of trade statement of the movement of through and local east bound tonnage out of Chicago, for the past week, which includes grain and flour, hides, wool, and lumber, shows a total of 47,471 tons, a decrease of 1,555 tons as compared with the previous week. The Pennsylvania lines led with the largest volume, a goodly portion of it flour, and the Lake Shore, Michigan Central, and Nickel Plate make good showings.

A circular has just been issued which lays down the law with regard to transportation of corpses, as follows: "A corpse requires one full first-class limited ticket, and no baggage must be checked on that ticket. The body must be accompanied by at least one adult person. It must be carried in the baggage car, and must be accompanied by a physician's certificate to the effect that the deceased did not die of any contagious disease. That is the law on every railroad in the United States."

Rev. and Mrs. S. A. Northrop are attending the National Baptist convention at Indianapolis. The denomination of Baptists outnumbers any other in the United States, excepting the Roman Catholic. The M. E. church, in its various branches, equals it, but not in any one division. The number of communicants in this country is now, in round numbers, 250,000. Indiana contains 45,000, Ohio 55,000, Illinois 75,000 and Kentucky 190,000. Roger Williams taught the Baptist doctrines first in Rhode Island in 1836, after his banishment from the Massachusetts colonies. At about the same date Hanserd Knollys came from Europe as a missionary and established Baptist churches on the south Atlantic coast colonies. From these two men the present growth has come.

Boy's solid button shoes, $1.00, at the "Massachusetts." Boots equally as cheap.

Elizabeth Melling sues Phillip Michael et al to recover $200 on a note.

Billy Meyer, the hatter, is doing honors over the arrival of a handsome baby boy at his home.

James R. Culbertson et al sue J. C. Bowser et al, to quiet title. Chas. W. Kuhne is attorney for the plaintiffs.

It is said that Mr. Fred Eckert contemplates erecting a $100,000 hotel near the Masonic Temple. Mr. Eckert can do it.

Col. C. A. Zollinger is in the city to attend the marriage of his daughter, which THE SENTINEL noted yesterday and to-day.

The new Wayne Building association has been incorporated under the state laws. The subscriptions to the loan will be paid in Friday night.

Carrie B. Hill sues John D. Hill for divorce. He was cruel to her in the face of the fact that she supported him for a long time. J. B. Harper filed the complaint.

Mr. R. T. McDonald said to-day that the Jenney Electric light company were negotiating for the purchase of the feeder canal with a view to utilizig the water power for their city and incandescent light systems.

The accident that occurred at the Pittsburg round house last night witnessed some vivid scenes and caused as much consternation among the employes as the bursting of a bomb would have done. Many of the boys were at work at the time, and when the sound of the falling room came to their ears, they rushed in every direction. Geo. Carling, fell through the seat of his "Mother Hubbard" pants, and Jim Sloan, the clerk in the machine shops, with Ed. Challenger, the boiler shop clerk, had urgent business just then and their coat tails were seen flying in the breeze as the rushed from the shop in dismay. Frank Mannis was thoroughly frightened, Wm. Rhodes and G. W. Tetley rushed about frantically, F. Fitzpatrick and George Schmall attempted vainly to escape from the iron-barred windows and Capt. S. L. Lewis happened to remember that he had an important errand to attend to at the new yards just then. The scene was a vivid one. All of the boys were completely frightened and many of them thought that their last day was at hand.

One of Baltimore's foremost Commission Merchants, Mr. W. Edwin Chipchase (of Chipchase Bros.,) writes:—A few days since I sprained my left foot. The pain was so severe that I could hardly walk at all. I saw your Salvation Oil advertised, so determined to give it a square trial. A few applications relieved me entirely and my foot is now as strong as ever. For the relief and cure of sprains and inflammations I regard it as a preparation of great merit.

THIS IS A HUMMER.

The Forest Fires in Manmee Township Boil the River Water and Sweep Things.

The Woodburn Gazette says: "A week or so ago fire broke out in the great scope of woods south of Woodburn, and from that time, has been a continual mass of flames, and has gradually cleared its way to the rural districts of Bull Rapids, doing great damage. The strong wind on last Sunday drove it very fierce into the timber lining the banks of the Manmee river. People were aroused from their pleasant dreams by the roar of the flames about their houses, and were compelled to flee to the river for a haven of safety. On reaching the river, they plunged in the foaming tide to their necks and were terrified to find that they must remain in that perilous condition for several hours. During that time the water had boiled down until it was only knee deep, and the stones in the bottom of the river were actually hot. Dead fish floated on the bosom of the river in great numbers. At Mudsock church, last Sabbath, people were compelled to leave the church during the services to fight fire. By a great effort they saved their church. The sun has not been visible here for five days on account of the smoke arising from the forest fire. Great quantities of game is being driven north. The last telegram we received (by special wire) says that the fire is growing more fierce every hour."

It is well known that six months in the year the most expert merchant tailors of New York are employed in making up the fine custom clothing, of which we are showing the most complete stock ever brought to Fort Wayne. Sam, Pete & Max are the recognized gentlemen outfitters and fashion leaders of Indiana. 26-eod

Hon. J. R. White expects to go to Washington next week.

"But John P. Robinson, he sez, they didn't know everythin' down in Judee." They certainly knew little, if they did not know that the safest quickest and most pleasant cure for croup, bronchitis, cough, cold in the chest, etc., is Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.
